First class comfort in your bathroom

Villeroy & Boch has always created the basis for a modern bathroom culture where wellness features prominently – and where technology and quality leave nothing to be desired. We set standards in all areas: the electronic bidet seats in the ViClean-L ranges, for example, combine the functions of a toilet and bidet: a unique level of cleanliness meets maximum comfort. The models in the ViClean-L range boast state-of-the-art technology.

Natural simplicity

More than 260 years of experience plus innovative ideas for contemporary designs – Villeroy & Boch has always combined tradition and modernity, expertise and inspiration. ViClean-L is a unique electronic bidet seat that strikes a perfect balance between aesthetics and practicality and does so with impressive ease. The electronic bidet seat was developed in cooperation with Daniel Debiassi and Federico Sandri, founders of the high-profile “Something” design studio with headquarters in London and Verona

“When Villeroy & Boch first asked us to design a new range of electronic bidets, one thing was immediately clear: we wanted to treat the object more like another brick, an element of interior design rather than like an isolated item on its own with absolutely no relation to its surroundings. We felt there was quite something to do in this field, and that is what captured our interest.” – Daniel Debiassi, Federico Sandri

ViClean-L is the perfect complement to the Subway 2.0 and Architectura collections. Features are optionally available in versions L3 and L6.
